30 YEARS

CELEBRATING

30 YEARS IN BUSINESS

In 2017, we are proud to be celebrating 30 years in the workwear industry.

To mark the occasion we held a week of special events for staff and customers. With exclusive promotions and discounts for our trade customers, plus team building events and free gifts for employees.

And a visit from our guest of honour, the Northampton Deputy Mayor, Counsellor Tony Ansell was a huge surprise for the team.

Without you - our valued customers – and our dedicated team of staff, we would not have reached this milestone.

READY FOR IMMEDIATE DESPATCH

To be able to secure a 48 hours despatch time we stock well over 100.000 products - such as workwear, safety shoes, gloves, helmets etc. - at our warehouses in Northampton, ready for immediate despatch. Stock holdings are monitored electronically and compared with previous sales data as well as the sales forecast on a daily basis in order to make sure that we run a sufficient stock at all times.

We sell directly to you and we supply directly to you!

This is why many of our customers regularly experience deliveries faster than the guaranteed 48 hours.

The viability of any warehouse is measured by the speed of turnover, and we are proud to announce that, by statistic, approximately 60% of our orders are despatched the same day. A performance we are aware our customers greatly value.

STAYING SAFE ON THE RAILS

The GO/RT 3279: 2012 (RIS 3279-TOM) standard sets out the mandatory P.P.E. requirements for hi-vis clothing in the UK rail industry, to ensure the maximum visibility of persons when working on, or at, the line side.

Based on the requirements laid out in BS EN 471: 2003, this stricter railway legislation states that all hi-vis clothing must be approved to a minimum of Class 2.

Railway garments must be fluorescent orange with reflective bands to ensure maximum visibility when working during the day or night. Additional, non-compulsory features include rip-apart sleeves for emergency situations which are not commonplace with standard hi-vis workwear.

For easy identification, all items within this catalogue which are railway approved feature a GO/RT logo.

For more information on any of the GO/RT products in the range, simply call us on 0330 700 0090 or email sales@bacasafety.co.uk

MEASUREMENT & SIZING GUIDE

Simply check your measurements against the charts below to confirm your size before you place an order.

Measure over light clothing or underwear and for accuracy please ask someone else to measure you.

Neck - Measure around the neck without pulling too tight.

Chest - Stand straight and measure the fullest part under the arms. Convert to small, medium, large etc. according to the chart below.

Waist - Measure the waist where the trouser waistband normally sits. For the inside leg measurement ask someone to measure your trousers from crotch seam to hem and make sure you stand completely straight for accuracy.

EN STANDARDS, PRODUCT INFORMATION & LEGAL

GLOVES

Information

Protective gloves can be divided into three categories depending on type and which risk or danger the gloves should protect against. The categories are determined by EU Directive 89/686 EEC, concerning safety requirements for Personal Protective Equipment (PPE).

Category 1: Gloves of simple design, for minimal risks only. Example of gloves in this category are household gloves used for cleaning and for protection against warm objects or temperatures not exceeding +50°C. Additional gloves in this category can include light-duty gardening gloves or other work where the risk of injury is minimal.

Category 2: Intermediate gloves, for intermediate risks. Gloves are placed in this category when the risk is not classified as minimal or irreversible. The gloves must be subjected to independent testing and certification by a Notified Body. A CE marking determines its protective capacities. In this category you will find general handling gloves requiring good puncture and abrasion performance according to EN388.

Category 3: Gloves of complex design, for irreversible or mortal risks. Gloves in this category are designed to protect against the highest levels of risk e.g. highly corrosive acids. Gloves in this category must also be independently tested and certified by a Notified Body (approved by the EU commission).

EN420 standard

This standard defines the general requirements for protective gloves in terms of construction, fit for purpose, safety, etc

- Gloves themselves should not impose a risk or cause injury.
- The pH of the gloves should be as close as possible to neutral.
- Leather gloves should have a pH value between 3.5 – 9.5.
- The highest permitted value for chromium is 3 mg/kg (chrome VI).
- Gloves should specify details of any substance used which is known to cause allergies
- Sizes are provided to an agreed common European hand size.

EN374 2/3 Protection from Chemicals and Micro-Organisms

The 'Micro-organism' pictogram is used when the glove conforms to at least a performance level 2 for the penetration test, measured as Acceptable Quality Level (AQL)

Protection Index (Class)	1	2	3	4	5	6
Breakthrough time (minutes)	>10	>30	>60	>120	>240	>480

Volume Resistivity

This indicates how strongly the glove resists electrical current (pass or fail test). This pictogram only appear when the gloves have passed the relevant test.

8.4.2	to the extent caused by the Buyer's failure to comply with the Seller's instructions in relation to the Goods, including any instructions on installation, operation, storage and maintenance;
8.4.3	to the extent caused by the Seller following any specification or requirement of the Buyer in relation to the Goods;
8.4.4	where the Buyer modifies any Goods without the Seller's prior written agreement or, having received such agreement, not in accordance with the Seller's instructions; or
8.4.5	where the Buyer uses any of the Goods after notifying the Seller that it does not comply with clause 8.1.
